

The killing of George Floyd has saddened us all – just like the deaths of so many other African-American men and women before. The sadness and anger we are all feeling isn't limited to the tragic deaths of these individuals, but also represents generations of systemic racism and inequity that have divided our country and our Kansas City community.

We stand with those in peaceful protest, and we condemn all acts of violence.

The injustice in too many parts of our society must be rectified and healed. The KC Chamber, Civic Council, and KCADC will continue our recent work toward inclusive prosperity, equity and a community that works for all.

WE MUST RISE TOGETHER.
